LETTERS

PAUL GARDNER: What do you Europeans think of the Iran-Contra flap? I have heard some Europeans don't see the problem, but in our system I believe there is a serious "short circuit" on the power lines. When the President or members of his staff ignore Congress, they are taking law-making powers away from Congress as it is the President's role to enforce the laws of Congress and treat these as special orders. What we have seen is several people in the President's staff saying, in effect, that there is a higher purpose, a higher law than Congress law. This sort of thinking can only lead to trouble in the form of tyranny or anarchy, certainly not democracy.

((I have two comments on the affair. The first is that the U.S. press was very lax in taking so long to discover and report what happened. Face it, everybody got scooped by the Lebanese magazine that discovered the arms sale, and it took the Attorney General to discover the diversion of funds to the Contras. The second is that the press is the only institution that can really prevent it from happening again. When officials ignore the law, writing new laws won't help. We have to depend on the lawbreakers being exposed and caught.))

JEFF ALBRECHT: Now that you have publically endorsed Jesse for President, please, tell us what Jesse has that the other six dwarfs don't have?

((Excuse me, but the endorsement of Jackson was Kevin Brown's, not mine. My own choice is Nunn of the above, but he's not in the race yet, so I just have to wait.))

I've put this issue off for too long, so I'll cut the filler and get it out. Seeing as this is the second time I've "folded", I still can't do it right. Out of some 95 subscribers I sent only 5 refunds. Hopefully the database works right and automatically deducts the issues from subbers and deducts nothing from traders. Any questions about your balance, please let me know.

Distractions this issue include the arrival of Frauke's older brother Roland for a six week visit. Since the DM is worth so much, it's a good time to visit. I've also worked full time at the paper the past couple weeks. I have, though, come to my senses and do not intend to work there while working on my PhD. I'm quitting the Star and Tribune at the end of month. This will also allow me more time for the zine. How's that for dedication, I'm quitting my job so I have more time to publish.

UNITED HOCKEY PRESS

F/X-MOPAC: A fine gesture sir, but even your reserves are too potent for this disaster, I mean club, built by Tighe. MOPAC-VEGIES: Let's face it, when the playoffs roll around, the frost is going to get you! The season is just too long for your delicate eco-system!

F/X-LEAGUE: After six straight road games, it's a wonder KEYS haven't left us in the dust. Mike's coaching is clearly having an effect, so beware!

Deadline for SESSION IX is SEPTEMBER 25, 1987, early bird Sep 18. ROCKIES, CONEJOS, COCHONS & LORDS NMR'd, everyone else but MOPAC & KEYS got the early bird VP. Lottery number was 87, MOPAC get $25K for one digit. NICEGUYS are fined $10K for no home ad. Since there are no more auctions, waivers were paid immediately this session.

YES, WE WILL RUN ANOTHER SEASON! Openings are available for 16 teams. Current players are guaranteed a spot if they let me know by next deadline. Same fee is $5 plus a sub to BIG HITS. The new season should begin in October or November.

PLAYOFFS

VEGIES, COCHONS, and ROCKIES clinched playoff berths this session. Magic numbers in points for the remaining teams are LORDS-2, CONEJOS-2. There is just one more session of regular games before the playoffs start. But I'm adding a condition. Any team MUST have submitted orders for both Sessions VIII and IX to be guaranteed a playoff spot. Any NMRing team may be replaced by one of the bottom two teams. I think this is an adequate reward for our two faithful standbys. Thanks again Mike and Bryce.

The playoff format is 8 team seeded elimination, best 2 of 3 games each round. Higher seed has home advantage in the first game, lower seed in the second. The third game if needed has no home advantage for either team.
